

I had been having a pain deep in my right leg for a few months, especially at night. Tylenol and ibuprofen did not help. I talked with my doctor about the problem and she thought it was from my muscles in the leg. She gave me more medication which also did not help. I thought about doing acupuncture, It had cured my serious back pain a few years ago but the acupuncturist I had gone to was located quite a distance away and it would be difficult to go for treatment on a regular basis.

Then one day I saw Sylvia's business card at my gym and I decided to make an appointment with her. And I am so glad I did! After a little over one month of regular treatments, my leg pain was gone. I am now on a maintenance plan, and no leg pain! As an added bonus, I was able to stop my hormone replacement medication to treat hot flashes! Acupuncture works for me!

Sincerely, D. M.
